

Janet Taylor, her story, her words.

Here I was in jail again for the ump-teenth time. There was nothing really different about this time except, if the cops hadn't arrested me when they did, I'm certain my emaciated body would be dead by now. I was both dehydrated and completely malnourished. I always went to jail for the same old thing--prostitution.

It all started with cocaine, the monster from the pits of hell. I started out using it recreationally, as a fun thing I did only at parties with "special" friends. However, soon it turned out I liked cocaine more than life itself because of the feelings of euphoria it gave me. I began to using it secretly and by myself. It got out of control quickly and I had to find ways and means to get more, so I turned to prostitution. Before I knew what hit me, I had a full-fledged drug addiction. It was indeed a monster on my back.

Crack cocaine took me down some of the darkest, loneliest, and most horrible streets of my life, including jail and prison. I lost my self-respect and custody of my children. I ended up homeless, on the streets, living like an animal from pillar to post. Crack cocaine almost completely destroyed my life. If it had not been for the Lord who was on my side... (Psalm 124:1) I became a born-again Christian in 1994.

It was 15 years ago that the Lord Jesus set me free. Since that time I have been on fire for Jesus, sharing my testimony while preaching the Word of God and traveling the globe to tell the world of My Savior and the power that He has to set the captives free. I am an ordained evangelist and sharing about the power of Jesus is what I love to do.
